Date: 11/12/2018

Objectives of the event:

The objectives of this session were:

1. To solve water problems at the source level by identifying the cause and solution for the same
2. To preserve or restore the river-bank
3. To make students aware of their social responsibility of keeping the source of water clean

Outcome of the event:

Volunteers including student and faculty members conducted a river cleaning process along with the support of local communities. After the cleaning process the volunteers gave a speech about the importance of maintaining a clean river. Vote of Thanks was delivered by the Head of Activity.

Brief Report:

Indian rivers hold a special position in our culture but have become polluted bodies of water. Rivers are vital for human existence and need to be conserved at all times. They are in fact the lifeline of our nation. The purpose of this activity was to realize the importance of clean water and conservation of rivers. It also gave the students an insight into the struggle of people in drought prone areas. JIMS aimed at conducting a CSR activity with a view to make a small effort on its part to clean the river.
